Change To Come?

For many years there has been agitation to change, through Constitutional amendment, our method of electing Presidents, by abolishing the electoral college system as it is now constitued and replacing it with a system based on the popular vote. It now looks as if this proposal has an excellent chance of becoming law. If it does, it will revolutionize the established pattern of political campigning.

Under the existing system, the candidate who gains a majority in a state gets the entire vote of the state in the electoral college. It doesn't make any differencehow bare that majority may be. He might carry a state by a single popular vote—yet he would get the whole electoral vote and that is the vote that counts.

The constitutional amendment which is now pending provides that each candidate's electoral vote shall be proportionate to his popular vote. In other words, if a man received 51 per cent of a state's popular vote he would get that percentage of the state's electoral votes instead of all of it. And if, on the other hand, he got 49 per cent, he would be given that part of the electoral vote instead of none.

President Truman has said he doubts if the proposed change can be effected in time to influence the 1952 campaign. But, as Jay Hayden points out in one of his columns, "All constitutional amendments recently adopted have run the gantlet of state ratification in less time than would be available to complete enactment of the present proposal before 1952." The amendment repealing prohibition became law about ten months after it was submitted to the states. The amendment abolishing the "lame duck" session of Congress made the grade in 11 months. The amendment legalizing Hazel Cassidy. woman's suffrage was approved in 14 months.

In any event it promises to cause important and farreaching changes in the partisan political setup as it now exists.

"do-nothing" attitude of the Republican party in 1950.

There is a strong feeling among Republican legislators, as repeatedly-reported in the press to treat edly-roported in the press to treat the spending program of the Governor as largely political issues for his campaign of re-election. The large list of proposals, of which there are 15, appear to be very ambitious to many legislators in view of the tradition that a special session should be limited to financial appropriations and matters held to be of an emergency order.

the State Civil Service, has proposed that the legislature apply flat 10 per cent cut in state pay-rolls as on way to effect a balanced budget. Records show that the payrolls of state agencies during the past year were approximately double of those in 1943-44. Senator Elmer R. Porter, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, points out that if the legislature could reduce state employment to the level of 1945-46, a saving of $24 millions could be effected. In 1943-44 the state had 16,038 employees for a total payroll of $33,-181,567. For the past fiscal year 1949,440, 2022,731 corpolators.

(1948-49) a 23,791 employees re-ceived a payroll totaling $66,283,-311. Yet the budget cannot be bal-anced alone by cutting salaries of state employees, a relatively small item in the light of all appropria-tions. Public services must be trimmed, and this means that the taxpayer will not pay more for present services, but due to diversion of state revenue to puble schools and local governments, he will receive fewer state services than heretofore.

Such is the prospect if recommendations of the legislative finance committees are accepted by the House and Senate in the final showdown of roll calls. Already the pressure is coming from pressure groups to make an "exception" to local interests.

Governor Williams has proposed a record breaking-budget for state spending for$340 millions for the fiscal year starting July 1,

This would be an increase if $110 millions, most of which would be covered by new taxes. The source of new tax revenues has been limited by Governor Williams to a state corporations profits tax. The state constitution to promite the Covernor to limit

In the past special sessions have been called to deal with emergency situations. Since the close of World War II the special session has become one for arriving at an annual budget in view of the post-war inflation with rising prices and a steady decline in purchasing power.

. In deciding that the Republican policy in the special session would be to balance the state budget without calling for new taxes, leg-islative leaders have given a firm "no!" to the proposals of the Gov-ernor for more spending and new taxes.

Unless legislators give in to pressure group demands from their own areas, legislative leaders believe that they can hold the lines firmly to accomplish the de-sired results of a balanced budget. Members of the two finance

Members of the two finance committees are agred that com pulsory appropriations such as the $87 millions required for public schools by the sales tax diversion amendment, could not be reduced by the legislature. This fact indicates that a budget cutting squeeze will be forthcoming whereby many state agencies, and perhaps some non-mandatory state perhaps some non-mandatory state aid to local governments, will have less funds to spend during the coming year than heretofore.

Whether this economy in certain fields of government spending will meet with approval of the tax-payert is another matter. Gov-ernor Williams no doubt will take advantage of the situation, press-ing for further benefits in public services, local as well as state, and deploring the "reactionary" and

We have just been advised that two new books are available on our public librray shelves. They are "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, and the biography entitled "Mary Baker Eddy. A Life Size Portrait" by Lyman P. Powell. Gasoline and Weight Tax

Gasoline and Weight Tax

No doubt many of the people in my district have read the report in a number of the metropolitan newspapers stating that I would introduce the gasoline and weight tax bills. Since I have taken the position against any new general fund taxes for this Special Session, I believe tha tthe action on my part in favor of additional gas and weight taxes demands an explanation. In my column last week I pointed out how unfair it was for the Governor to advocate taking additional money from the general fund for highway purposes. I want to repeat that the general fund for the most part is composed of the three per cent sales tax, a tax that all consumers pay on food, clothing, and other necessities of life. The sales tax is paid by all people regardless of whether or not they use the highways. The constitution provides that all motor fuel and weight taxes be used only for highway purposes.

Prior to this Special Session I attended two meeting in Gaylord. The first was a meeting of the county road commissions of this district, in which they instructed me to do my utmost to obtain additional road revenue by means of increased gasoline and weight taxes. The second meeting about ditional road revenue by means of increased gasoline and weight taxes. The second meeting about a week later was attended by the road commissions and a large number of the supervisors from Presque Isle. Montmorency, Otsego and Crawford counties at which the proposed road legislation was thoroughly discussed. The supervisors, who represented the people in my district, were The supervisors, who represented the people in my district, were unanimous in stating that they did not want all of the township and city sales taxes and intangible tax money which they receive from the State, used for highway purposes. They stated that to take this money away from the smaller townships would deprive them of money that they could not replace by other means of taxation. They directed me by a unanimous decision to work for legislation increasing the gasoline tax by 2 cents per galon and adding an addition! weight tax on heavy vehicles. They agreed with me that there should be no additional weight tax on additional veight tax on additional control of the supervisional control of the supervisional methods. I would hesitate to advocate an

I would hesitate to advocate an additional 2c gasoline tax if I thought that the price of gasoline in Michigan would be increased by this amount. Experience has shown us that such is not the case. The price of gasoline is fixed by the large petroleum companies over a large number of States in which they do business. Let me remind you of what took place in 1947. The legislature passed a law which would have added 1c to the gasoline tax. The Governor vetoed the bill and Governor vetoed the bill and Michigan residents thought that they would have no increase in the price of gasoline. Before six months had elapsed the price of gasoline had increased three times to a total of 6½c per gallon. Of this additional 6½c not one penny was applied to Michigan roads. The increase in the price of gasoline by the petroleum companies was due among other panies was due among other things to an increase in the tax on gasoline in other states. In leveling off the prices throughout these states Michigan residents had to pay their share of the increase. Michigan motorists paid for the improvement of highways in other states. We are nware that an increase tax of 2c sper gallon in Michigan at this time would not reflect materially in the price of gasoline as the leveling off process over a number of states would again be applied by the oll industry. From the above explanation I hope you will understand that a 2c tax increase on gasoline would, not be an increase in the price to the motorist.

In the matter of weight tax increase the situation is somewhat different. This cannot be absorbed and must be paid directly by the motorist. I have statistics to show that the automobile owners are paying more than their share of the weight tax as against other highway users, It is for this reason, that we advocate subsantial linease in the weight tax as agains other highway users. They are the road users that are not now paying their just share of road taxes and they are also the users that are responsible for the breaking down of our highways system. It must be noted that the Governor did not intend that these taxes should be considered in this Special Session.

We are of the opinion, however, that inasmuch as he advocated that the Good Roads Federatlin your co-operation in promptly heavy vehicles which are making railroad systems out of our highways. They are the road users that are not now paying their just share of road taxes and they are also the users that are responsible for the breaking down of our highway system. It must be noted that the Governor did not intend that these taxes should be considered in this Special Session. We are of the opinion, however, that inasmuch as he advocated that the Good Roads Federation program be considered during this session, he cannot therefore rule against increased revenue for lighways which is a prot of that Much has been said, and writ-ten about Frontier Justice in the ten about Frontier Justice in the early east and on the western plains, but I think this might be called Bunkhouse Justice, in a north Michigan lumber camp. When the Timber-looker and his friend Indian Johnny were told by the tail lumberjack that they were being held for killing Bonnie Parker and there was 'A eye witness' they knew that they were confronted with a plot much deeper than a mere fight between two Lumber Companies.

"Only thing on our side," Clay Woods said afterwards. "was that we didn't do it, an' it takes a lot we didn't do it, an' it takes a lot smarter man to frame somebody else an' make it stick, than it does an honest man to clear hisself if he keeps his head an' just keeps an' eye out for loopholes. Never was a crook yet, didn't overstep hisself some where, 'specially if he thinks he ain't got much opposition. Never was a better place 'n among a crew of lumberjacks if you was innocent. But if you was guilty you might better be in H... with your back broke.'

Well, we set it out till about noon, waitin' for the sheriff they said. Johnny an' me held ourpeace, waitin' to see what they would conjure-up. 'Bout 'leven o'clock a rig drove up an' Zeke Thorne an' Grorge Jenis, head. Thorne an' George Jenks, head men of W. Struthers Company, got out hig as life an just beamin' with benovelence. "I see you got the culprits red-handed," Zeke roars, "good work men, sorry I couldn't get here sooner. I suspicioned these fellers was up to skullduggery, but had not idea even a discharged employe would be identified by ear tag go that far. Sorry to hear about go that har. Sorry to hear about Bonnie, an' your logs, but we'll try our best to make it up to ye, as far's humanly possible. First we'll take pleasure in puttin' these here criminals where they belong."

"While the breeze Zeke made was soakin' in, him an' little shriveled up Jenks stood there glarin' at Johnny an' me. I don't know whether they figured the jacks was gonna hand us right over to 'em or not, but if they did they was fooled 'cause right then up steps a little sawed-off man with a lazy brown mustache. an' finshes a deputy's star, big as your foot. "I take charge here," he said, "in justice to the accused, they got a right to be faced by the evidence. Go get Alec, somebody," he continued, "let him tell what he seen down on the raft."

Well the little man with the eled up Jenks stood there glarin

Well the little man with the floppy mustache an' the big ears was like a fresh breeze on a muggy afternoon. He had a tone of authority about 'im that even made old Zeke goggle-eyed for a minute, an' about the time he got round to get, his wind again the hunchback boy from the cookshanty was brought in, an' then we all was goggle eyed. So that was shanty was brought in, an' then we all was goggle eyed. So that was their eye witness! The kid was tryin' an' holdin' his hands up to intervals of 30 to 60 days until his face an' just about had to be carried, an' Zeke Thorne an' had and then followed by a negative test of the herd are two negative tests of the herd are two negative tests of the herd are two negative tests. The herd is respect to the second see that something'd gone wrong, an' Johnny an' me saw a little light found and additional tests as may be found necessary. Where a risin' above our horizon.
